ABSTRACT

The adult education directory was prepared for three purposes: as a guide for counselors and adult students who wish to know what courses are available in Tanzania to meet their special interests and needs; to inform adult educators of the present provisions and fields of study covered by existing organizations; and to offer information on the teaching facilities and accommodations available at centers throughout the country for holding courses and seminars. Courses not open to the general public and organizations offering only occasional and informal adult educational activities were excluded from the directory. The directory lists the addresses and aims of 90 educational institutions, gives details of the classes offered (type of course, subject, duration, and fees), student eligibility requirements, facilities available (libraries, classrooms, meeting rooms, etc.), other activities of the institution, and in some cases information about examinations and certificates. FORFWORD

This is The Fifth Edition of The Adult Education Directory. It has been prepared for three purposes. First, it is a guide for counsellors and for adult students who wish to know what courses are available in Tanzania to meet their special interests and needs. Second, it will inform adult educators of the present provisions and fields of study covered by existing organisations. Third, the directory offers information on the teaching facilities and accommodation available at centres throughout the country for holding courses and seminars.

Courses which are not open to the general public, for example in service training courses, have not been included in the directory. Those organisations which offer only occasional and informal adult educational activities have also in general been excluded.

The directory has been compiled from information submitted by the organisations included. Additional information, corrections and notice of any alterations in existing provisions should be sent to the Director of the Institute of Adult Education.

Any suggestions for its improvement will be gratefully received.
